Urgency demands solidarity — let's act now

Donations are important because:

- They provide funds for science projects working on advanced treatment. In its earliest, localized stages, the 5-year relative survival rate of breast cancer is 99% due to advances in treatment.
- They enable free support and counseling via (organization) for women affected by breast cancer and their families, all exposed to uncertainty, fear, anxiety, and uneasiness.
- They support (organization) to inform how cancer in 4 out of 10 cases can be prevented by changing behavior, e.g. by being physically active and limiting alcohol.

Every year, 2.3 million people worldwide are diagnosed with breast cancer. And according to WHO projections, that number could rise by 38% by 2050 — reaching 3.2 million new cases annually.

For each VP300 Pink sold, we donate [XX] to [organization]
